SUMMARY

Full stack web developer recently completed UT Austin coding bootcamp to receive my certificate. Through completing this bootcamp, I have become familiar with technologies such as MongoDB, React.js, JavaScript, CSS, and MySQL. Also, with previous knowledge in C, and C++ I have the foundation to start on a path of success for achieving my future career. While working on projects with different groups I have realized I have the willingness to step outside my comfort from backend development to strengthen my skill in something I struggled with such as CSS giving me new insights. I look forward to honing my skills through new projects as my post bootcamp journey begins.
